

Letter of Motivation

Introducing myself, I am Hridesh Chaudhary, a permanent resident of Bhanu Chok, 10 Ratnanagar, Chitwan, Nepal. I was born on 29th Oct, 2001 as a son of Mr. Bijay Kumar Chaudhary. I have a Nepali passport number of 12144648. Strong education is a must for everyone in today's worldwide, competitive culture, and it will have a big impact on my portfolio of knowledge and competence. It will also be very beneficial for my future job with respected educational sectors.

I completed my Secondary Education Examination (SEE) from New Speedy English School, Ratnanagar, Nepal in the year 2018 A.D and was able to secure a 3.15 GPA. After completing my school level education, I got admitted to New Capital Secondary School, Ratnanagar Tandi, Chitwan, Nepal. I took the faculty of management and completed on 2020 A.D. with an CGPA of 2.78. As, I have always been interested in pursuing my further study abroad, I took IELTS test on 26th Mar, 2022 and scored overall score of 6 with each band not less than 5.5.

Nepal has not been able to deliver the kind of education that the international market demands. In Nepal, people study for degrees rather than knowledge, which causes undergrads to lack confidence and self-esteem. There are many graduates without jobs in Nepal because they are not aware of their own interests. On the other hand, because of the old curriculum, students are not able to solve problems and neither develop as critical thinkers, which is a huge problem due to which organizations are having difficulty hiring qualified individuals to work. International degrees are prioritized over Nepalese degrees because they are more subject and industry-relevant, research-based education. However, in Nepal, these approaches are not encouraged; instead, one might obtain a degree by reading marketable books, old questions, notes, and guess papers. Both undergraduate and graduate degrees are true in this regard. In Nepalese education, students who rely on research receive lesser grades than they would with an international degree. These days, there are educational institutions in Nepal that are linked to foreign universities, and the demand for these schools is very high because the students who attend them may compete both nationally and internationally. Upon choosing among different countries, I chose to study in Denmark for my further education.

International acclaim is accorded to the Danish educational system and degrees. Because of this, I want to pursue a BSc (Hons) in Business Studies at Copenhagen Business College in Denmark. This will help me to improve my knowledge and to change the company's business strategy and accounting system. I came to the conclusion that this college is the ideal choice for me because it is one of Denmark's oldest and most established business colleges, is situated directly in the heart of Copenhagen, and provides a comprehensive curriculum in business studies that is fully approved by the UK. This education will provide me with the practical information and skills I need to enhance my business-related profession. Students will get the skills necessary to thrive in today's workplace through the curriculum. My ability to focus on business development will also be aided by the data-based competence I will acquire from this course. Possessing a working grasp of business studies will enable me to enhance my quality of life, career, and ability to work.

I carefully compared a number of Danish colleges and universities before deciding to pursue a BSc (Hons) in Business Studies at Niels Brock Copenhagen Business College. I think this college is the best fit for me for a number of reasons, but one of the main ones is that I will have an advantage over my rivals since I will graduate from one of Denmark's top universities and receive a degree associated with the United Kingdom at the same time, which is much more challenging to obtain globally. Copenhagen Business College hopes to significantly influence future sociological, cultural, and economic growth. I will have the chance to broaden my knowledge at this university through study and practical experience rather than just relying on classroom instruction. This university's selection of undergraduate, graduate, and doctorate degree programs appeals to me. I can apply to the Bachelor of Business Studies program at Copenhagen Business College and earn a business degree while studying abroad. After successfully finishing a course at this college, I will be equipped for a range of positions in large national and multinational enterprises as well as small and medium-sized businesses. The program aims to prepare graduates for the workforce of the twenty-first century by fusing relevant academic theory with today's practical and professional skills. In the modern global economy, degrees in international business are in high demand. I'll learn a lot of practical skills from this curriculum that I can apply to my job. Along with these skills, students will also have a strong theoretical grounding in subjects like marketing, human resource management, global strategy, intercultural ethics, and others.

I'm going to show up as a competent guy with good attitudes, a strategy, and understanding, and as someone who can be relied upon for my next life step. I will have acquired an international education after completing my BSc (Hons) in Business Studies program in Denmark, which will provide me the drive and practical experience I need to advance my career in technology, which Nepal lacks.

After receiving my degree, I have no doubt that it will present me with fantastic employment opportunities that will progress my career. I'll only be in Denmark for a short while. I owe both my family and my hometown a great deal of loyalty. I therefore intend to return home to put my professionalism and powerful business style into reality after graduating from Copenhagen Business College with a degree in business knowledge and abilities. I will graduate from this business school with the skills and knowledge necessary to launch my own firm, which will enable me to comfortably support my family. And I'm grateful if you provide me the opportunity to enroll in the Niels Brock Copenhagen Business College because it will benefit my future professional development. I promise to uphold all laws and regulations of the Danish government as well as the college I have selected in order to start my career and finish the remaining curriculum.

I, hereby certify that the information above is accurate and verified. Finally, I humbly ask that you provide me the chance to study in Denmark and pursue my professional goals.

In the hopes of receiving a good response, I feel I have the skills and ambition to effectively study a Bachelor (Hons) in Business Studies while contributing to research at Copenhagen Business College in Denmark, and I truly want to get admission.

Yours Sincerely,
Hridesh Chaudhary
